Brest - a dynamic student city

Brest has over 24,000 students in a population of 200,000 people. That’s one of the highest ratios in France. With a university, nine Grandes Écoles and research centres, Brest, also known as "la Cité du Ponant", is vibrant with student life.

Linked to all Europe

Brest's international airport, provides quick links to all major European cities. Under an hour from Paris (ten flights per day), and one hour from Brussels and London, Brest is far from isolated. As for trains, there are eight high-speed trains (TGV) daily to Paris.

With its feet in the ocean,

The Brest Campus, where all engineering students must spend at least a year, is without a doubt one of the most attractive in Europe. Everything here is designed to make student life easier.
