Masters of Science in Management and Engineering of Environment and Energy (ME3)

The European joint Masters of Science in Management and Engineering of Environment and Energy (ME3) is an inter-disciplinary program which brings together : (1) Management and Engineering ; (2) Energy and Environment, and (3) European and outside Europe collaborations. All these aspects make the ME3 Masters course a unique program in European higher education, and constitute the “raison d’être” of the university consortium.

All the information about the ME3 program is available on the web.imt-atlantique.fr/x-de/me3-site/ website.
